

The best wine selections of '07

Thursday, December 6, 2007

By ROBERT WHITLEY

Choosing a wine of the year is a bit like voting for your favorite flavor at Ben & Jerry's. At the highest levels of winemaking, they're all very good.

Rather than contriving a selection process that takes into account various factors such as score, price, and availability, this year I've determined to present my wines of the year in a straightforward fashion. They are simply the best wines I've tasted from the new releases of 2007.

Wines of the year

■ Far Niente 2004 Cabernet Sauvignon, Napa Valley – One of the finest Far Niente cabs ever made. R: 95.